Once your account is created and your email has been verified, you will be able to use your username and password to login to your Gun 12K to start saving your stats and creating/saving drills. You can either create and save drills right on the touchscreen of The Gun 12K, or at gun.shootaway.com

Any drill created at gun.shootaway.com under your account will immediately be available on your Gun 12K when logged in.

Creating a Drill

On the main screen, you will see My Drills, Team Drills and Individual Drills. "My Drills" will be where any drill you create at gun.shootaway.com or when logged into The Gun 12K will show up.

Creating a Drill

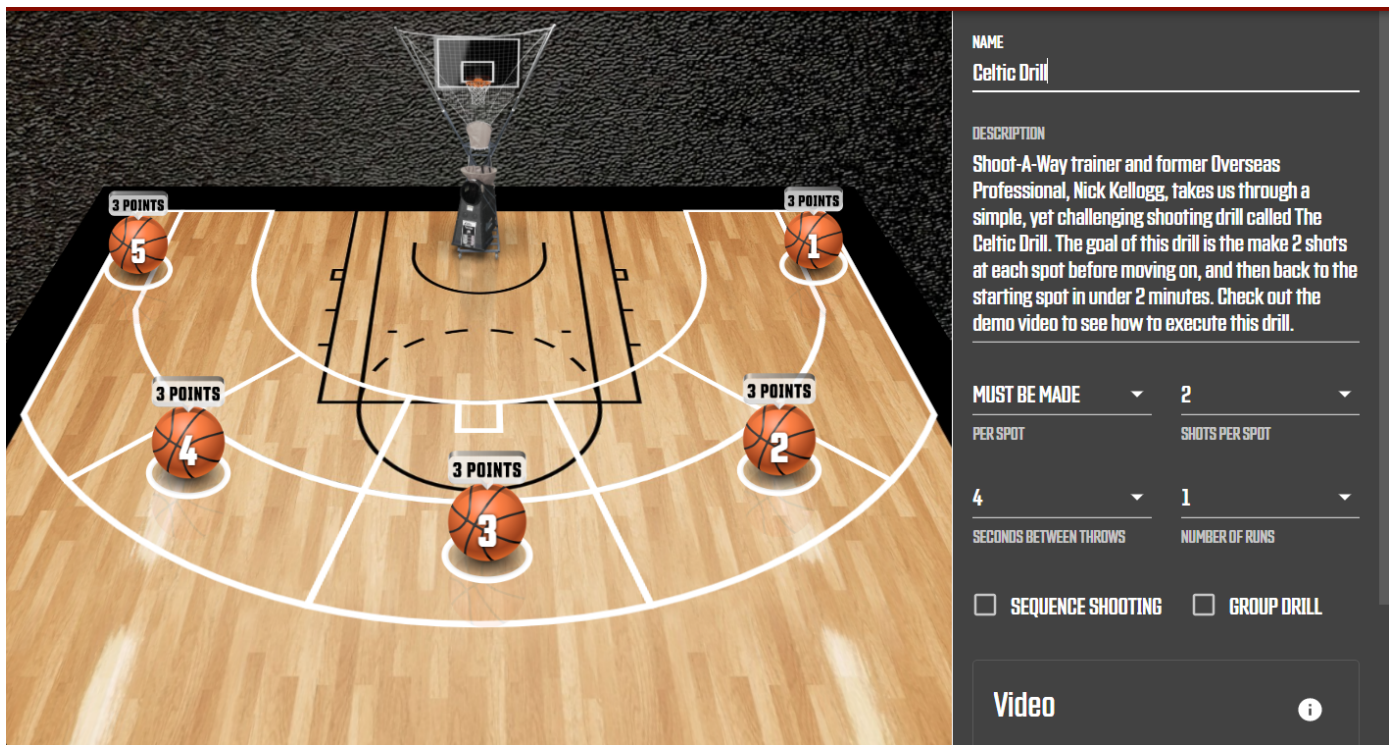

Categories

Tap "+" to the right of "Categories" to create your drill category folders. For example, if you would like to create a series of drills for your guards, you can create a category called "Guard Drills", etc. Within each category you create, you can create and save drills, or create subcategories. These will then show up on The Gun 12K the next time you log in.

Drills

Tap "+" to the right of "Drills" to start creating a drill.

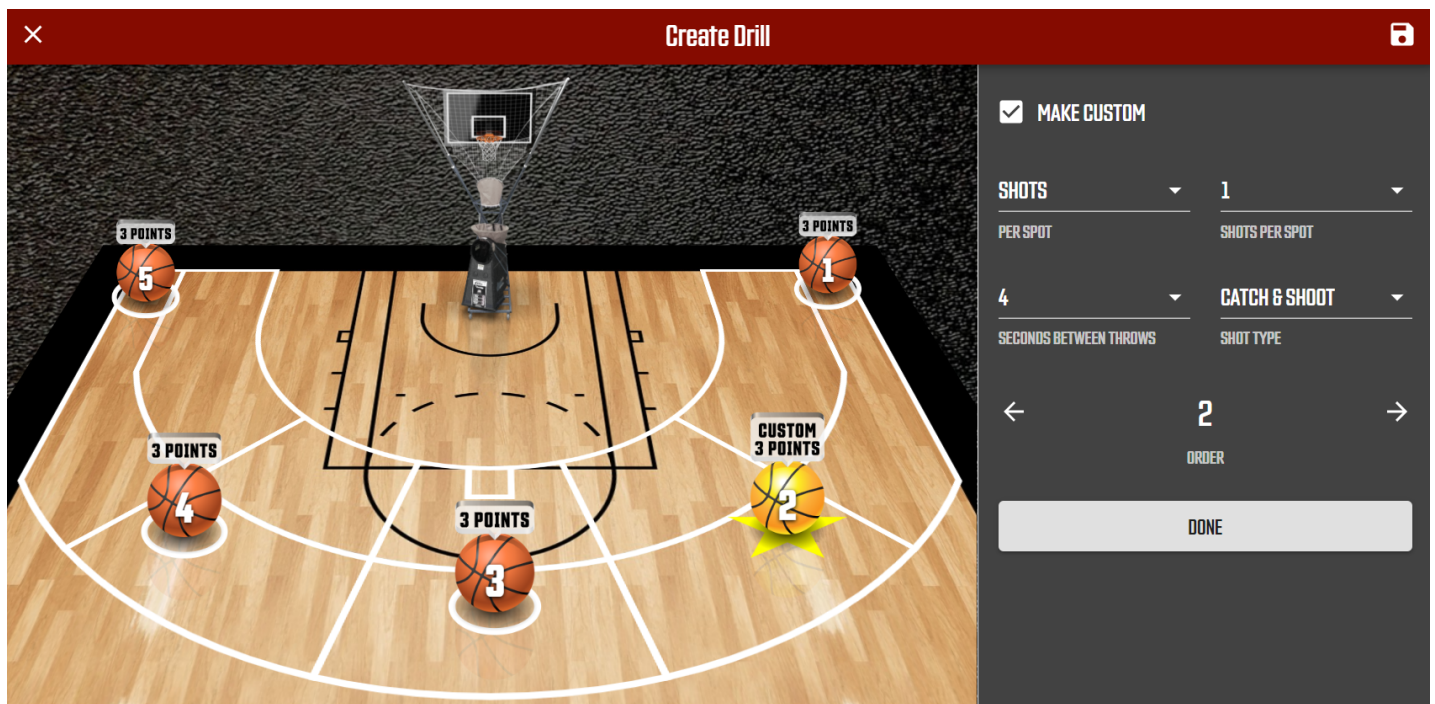

Creating a Drill

When in the "Create Drill" screen, you can tap your mouse anywhere on the court to add a shooting location (where The Gun will pass to). You can also click on the same location and drag and drop it anywhere on the floor for quick drill edits, or drag it off the court to delete.

Note, The Gun will keep the stats for the locations as you programmed them. But, The Gun will not adjust the distance of the pass.

Creating a Drill

If you click once on a location, your side menu will change to give you the ability to make this specific location different from the others on the court. All you need to do is checkmark "Make Custom" on the right menu to activate this feature.

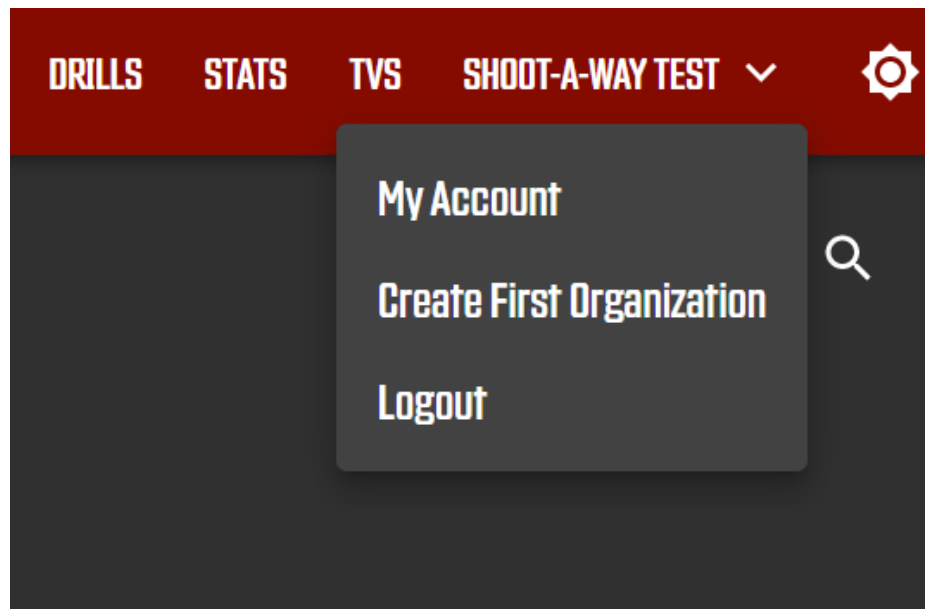

For example, if you want Ball #2 to have 3 shots instead of 1, you will change that on the side menu. Then this location will be the only one that you take 3 shots at, the other locations will still be 1 shot per spot. You can also adjust the seconds between throws, shot type or if you want the spot to require made shots before moving to the next location.

Creating an Organization

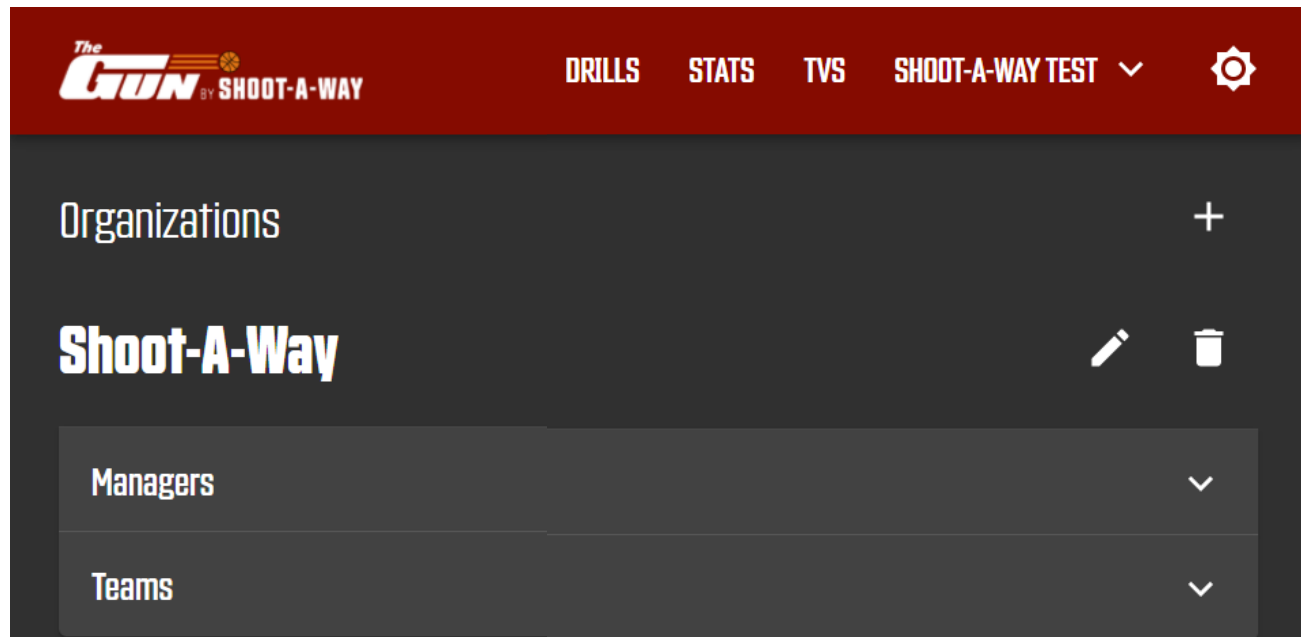

What is an Organization?

An Organization allows you to create a Team to add your players to. Creating a Team will allow you to view your players stats all in one place and have the ability to create drills that are only available to the players on your team.

To create an organization, you will click on your account name at the top right corner of the screen to show the drop down options. One of the options is to "Create First Organization"

Creating a Team

Once your Organization is created, you can now assign a Manager to your Organization, or create a Team within your Organization by clicking the drop down arrows on the right side of the screen for either "Manager" or "Team" and then clicking "+" to add.

Once your Team is created, you will have the ability to add a Coach to your Team as well as your Players.

The Coaches or Players who are invited to your team will need to accept the email invitation they receive.
